Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

In this season at this time of the year, there are many kinds of common illnesses around which can damage many lives, one is the flu. This kind of illness can cost life if it hits someone real strong, and the physical body of a person cannot fight back. We have to take good care of our physical body so we can be free from the illness of this season. As we are about to enter Lent of 2018, the Gospel of this Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time tells us the story how Jesus heals the leper by touching him. I am always overwhelmed with this story of tenderness and personal interaction of God to his people through the ministry of Jesus Christ here on earth. To touch a leper makes oneself vulnerable to the disease. As a man, Jesus can catch the disease from the leper and yet He did touch him. Many of us may be healthy but many may not and I am one of the unhealthy. I need Jesus to touch me when I pray with the Holy Scripture, when I receive His Body and Blood in the Holy Eucharist so I can be free from my many illnesses, but I have to come to Him and sincerely allow Him to touch me. This is easy to say but difficult to do because some of the illness in me have been abandoned with carelessness or no care at all for a long time. I sincerely invite those of you who think that you need Jesus like I do, please do not be afraid, but join with me in this year of Lent. Let us together say, Jesus if you wish you can make us clean, and believe that He will clean each one of us from whatever illness that hold us back from His love and the love of our neighbor.

May the Blessing of the Infant Jesus of Prague be with the whole world and with each one of us now and for eternity. Our prayers and our thoughts, like the candle lit at the Shrine day and night are for all of you and all of your loved ones.

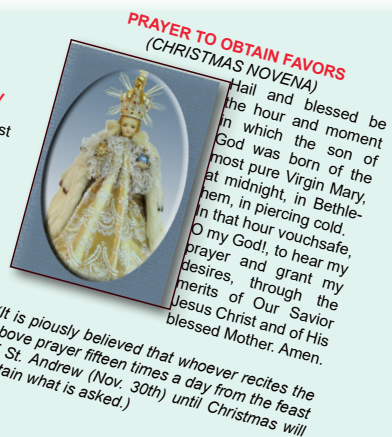

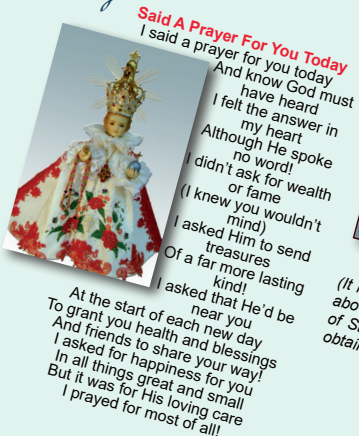

Sincerely,

Father Long Phan N
